The higher population growth has made the government carry out a strategy, namely launching the program of Kampung Keluarga Berkualitas in controlling the rate of population growth and improving family quality. This study aims to determine the social capital in collaborative governance in the program of Kampung Keluarga Berkualitas from the aspects of 1) building trust, 2) networking carried out in collaborative governance, and 3) norms that apply in the implementation of the program. The method used in this research is a descriptive qualitative method. In determining informants using purposive sampling. The data collection techniques used were interviews, observations, documentation studies, and focus group discussions. The data validity checking technique uses triangulation and observation persistence. Data analysis techniques through the steps of data collection, data reduction, data presentation, and conclusion drawing. The findings of research on five informants show that social capital in collaborative governance in the Quality Family Village program shows that 1) Building trust as a foundation in collaboration by conducting open and inclusive communication, as well as the role of leaders in coordinating and bridging stakeholders in the implementation of the program of Kampung Keluarga Berkualitas. 2) Networking includes various stakeholders, including working groups, communities, government, and the private sector, all of whom are actively involved in the exchange of information, resources, and support, and 3) The prevailing norms are written rules in the form of guidelines and unwritten rules in the form of social values such as respecting opinions. In the research findings, problems were found that needed to be overcome, such as the absence of definite scheduling for regular meetings, lack of participation from some members of the working group, and the unknown of the Rumah Anak Sigap program. Based on the research conducted, the researcher proposed the program of Satu Hati: Working Group Synergy in Controlling Growth Rate and Family Welfare in Kampung Keluarga Berkualitas Kelapa Dua Wetan Village by using social planning methods and capacity building and implementation techniques.
